Moonlight

Moonlight whispers on her hair,
Slowly, shadows wander,
Branches offer warnings:
Shivers cross the silence.

Fearless, she wanders on,
Never shiver slows her step;
Suddenly, she halts there:
Far, howls of the wolves sound!

Last night she was dreaming,
She remembers dreaming wolves,
Their eyes deep and glowing,
Shadows danced in her mind.

Moonlight whispers on her hair,
Silver shadows glimmer,
Gently, she steps slowly,
Safe, she finds her way now.
